

Cynthia "Cindy" Tinker

July 8, 2020

Cynthia (Cindy) Lynn Epperson Tinker of San Angelo passed away Wednesday, July 8, 2020 from prolonged health issues.

Cindy was born June 16, 1947 in Flagstaff, Arizona at the Navajo Ordnance Depot to William Kenneth Epperson and Phyllis D Peck, and was raised by her grandparents.

Cindy was a very loving mother and grandmother. She did everything she could to make sure her family was alright. Cindy took in anyone and treated them as if they were her own. She raised and mothered many children throughout her life, which included her friends at work, her daughters' friends, or the old man down the street. She would happily give the shirt off her back, it didn't matter who needed it. She was always there to kiss a boo-boo, feed you, or nurse you back to health, but most importantly, she was there to talk crap and smack you around (when it was needed). She was a lover and a fighter. Cindy had been fighting health issues for about 10 years and now her battle is finally over and she can rest in peace. Her ashes will be spread in her hometown of Flagstaff.

Cindy was preceded in death by her parents, grandparents, and her first husband Robert Tinker.

She is survived by her 2 daughters: Tanya and Kelsey; and 2 grandchildren: Lacey and Cayden.

Thank you to everyone who loved, cared, and became a part of Cindy's big family. She will be dearly missed by so many.

A celebration of her life will be held at a later date.
